DAVIS THEATRE Last Day of the Big Banner Bill, Don't Mis It. New Show Tomorrow.

Now that the warm weather seems to be with us the question arises, where is a good cool place to find entertainment without having to swelter uncomfortably by the heat. The Davis is equipped to overcome the heat difficulty, by a cooling process that has anything else in the city beat in every way, big fans have been installed in the basement and they keep a continual influx of pure fresh air circulating throughout the entire building without the distracting noises that is caused by the ordinary fan used in most theatres, these fans only stir up most theatres, these fans only stir up the hot air in the building whereas the system used by the Davis keeps the house supplied with new air all the time, and makes the temperature in-side much cooler than it is on the

The show which closes its engagement today has been pronounced by all as one of the best bills of the sea-son, both in vaudeville and photo plays comedy being the predominant fea-ture of the show. The headline at-traction is the Edward Brothers, two clever European artists who get more laughs by their comedy antics than anything else seen here in some time. Howard and Mason receive a warm reception everytime they appear from their home town friends for the way their home town friends for the way they present their singing and eccentric dancing specialty. La Rex and La Rex do an aerial act that makes a big hit. Bell and LaPorte do an Italian singing and musical specialty that makes a hit right from the start, and Pauline Carr the dainty singing comedienne assisted by a little girl never fails to draw big applause. The photo plays are The Strike a two reel industrial drama showing the effects caused by strikes, especially on the caused by strikes, especially on the poor. The Mutual Weekly is also shown with a lot of interesting subjects and Caught at the Caberet, a to this great show. Another big five act bill will be

COLONIAL THEATRE. "Perils of Pauline," Two Reels. Amazing $25,000 Prize Story.

Here it is again, that amazing serial, "Perils of Pauline," for today only. This is the story that is running in a chain of the largest newspapers from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and everybody is guessing what Owen's plans are, what he whispered to the bold pirate who attempted to allure adventurous Pauline to the desert isle. Being thwarted in the last picture, Owen is not to be daunted and he is to the front again today with a new scheme, which no douht Pauline will fall in with at once, to acquire her much desired worldly experiences. Another big feature for today is "The Fighting Blood," a mammoth two reeler in which is feamammoth two reeler in which is featured Romaine Fledding that fearless player of the big Lubin cast. It is needless to remark that this picture is a thriller, else Fielding would not be in it. One of the pretitest stories of the season is "Fraid Cat" a delightful Vitagraph story of childhood, with all the big favorites. There are two roaring Biograph comedies also for today. mammoth two reeler in which is fea-

Today is the last chance the people of Norwich will have to see the biggest and best vaudeville act that r played this city in over a year, d the Auditorium management is be congratulated on securing an atto be congratulated on securing an attraction of this calibre. Wyatt's Kilties, as the ten Scotch lads and lassies are named, are certainly great. Every one of the ten people in the act can do semething, all are good singers, they also dance and the bagpiper is a star, and in the course of their act they offer 10 musical and singing numbers. And they are Scotch the real numbers. And they are Scotch, the real dyed-in-the wool article, guaranteed imported from the land o' the heather. The last chance this afternoon and tonight to see this genuine head-

Ray Newton has a neat line tricks, and a measure style of working, he is humorous without being offensive, as many so-called magicians are, and he holds his position on the bill in good style. Billy Burns, a monologist is the third act, we will reserve decision on Billy, some say he is good some say he is not, decide for vourself.

All new photo plays are here today, the feature being a beautiful two reel the feature being a heautiful two reel dramatic production from the Paris-Eclair studios. entitled "The Fangs of Jealousy, or the Unknown Friend" This is one of the finest victures offered for some time. The popular Phillips Smalley will be seen in one of his masterly Rex productions entitled "In the Days of His Youth," and the programme will conclude with the programme will conclude with dainty Ethel Grandin and the Imp Co, in the delightful comedy "Temper Temper." The vaudeville is changed tomorrow and a special headline attraction listed for the last three days

BRIEF STATE NEWS

New Britain.—The municipal ice committee held a meeting recently, and voted to engage George F. Hennig to be superintendent of the municipal ice houses for $19 a week.

Middletown.—Roberet B. Warwick, of New Jersey, director of the Supreme Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, has opened headquarters here. He ex-pects to install a lodge at Middletown.

Ivoryton — Henry Chapman of Ivoryton Heights has just completed transplanting sweet corn. It looks fine, and certainly proves that all crops of this sort can be transplanted to gain an early crop.

Thompsonville.- A writer in one of Thompsonville.—A writer in one of the Connecticut state papers in reviewing the possible candidates for congress in the republican first congressional district, gives prominence to the name of William J. Mulligan of Thompsonville, whom the writer states is well fitted for the high office. Mr. Rulligan is a lawyer.

HIS PIPE.

Though grandps left us long ago, with years and labors ripe.
Yet still upon the shelf we keep his old black briar pipe.
And when we take it down we seem to see above the bow!
The keen blue eyes that mirrored forth
his wise and kindly sou!.
We took our sorrows to his knee, he listened to them all.
From sister Lett's love affair to Benny's "losted bal!.
And when he filled and lit his pipe, we knew that he had found the end of all the troubled rieins our careless hands unwourd.

So when my grown-up heart is and with life's eternal pain.
With reverential touch I take the old black pipe again.
About it hangs the aroma of good to-bacco still.
And calls his sturdy spirit bask to brace my weakened will;
Through that old pipe he speaks to me, just as he used to do.
And bids me face the world again with strength and courage new,
And hope around me folds once more her rainbow colored cloak
And all my little troubles fade as once they did—in smoke.

LUCK. We may not all be wealthy and we may not all be proud;
We may not all be winning admiration from the crowd;
We may envy him who passes in a splendid limousine.
But its lucky to be living when the fields are turning green.

We may not all be tamous not all be wise.

We may not all be gazing into lovely, earnest eyes;

We cannot all be dwelling where we would prefer to dwell.

But it's lucky to be living when the buds begin to swell.

Greensboro, N. C., boasts that it is the only city in the United States which has neither files nor mosquitoes. It began the work of banishing files by a strictly enforced ordinance, providing heavy penalties against any citizen's permitting stable or other refuse to remain on his premises more than one week. That cleared out the files, and then the city turned its attention to preventing the breeding of mosquitoes. After each rainstorm, and before mosquitoes can propagate, the city's bells ring, whereupon the people, old and young address themselves to the task of covering the surface of every puddle of water with kerosense. This rain has worked so well that mosquitoes are said to have no chance for their lives in Greensboro.
